SYMPATHY OF NATION FOR CHIEF

President's Wife Passes
Into Peaceful Slumber
After Weeks of Illness

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS

Have Not Yet Been Completed—President Wilson Bearing Up Well Under His Deep Grief—Messages of Condolence Pour Into White House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Messages from every part of the United States and from abroad poured into the White House today bearing the sympathetic expressions of thousands for President Wilson and his daughters on the death of Mrs. Wilson.

Funeral arrangements had not yet been completed early today, but it was certain that the burial would be either at Rome, Ga., the girlhood home of the President's wife, or at Princeton, N. J. It was regarded as probable that the funeral services would be simple and that only the family and close friends and relatives would be invited.

Bearing up well under his deep grief, the president went to his desk early today to sign a few important papers, but returned immediately to the White House, where the flag fluttered at half mast, the shades at the windows were drawn and the silent pall of death pervaded. Gates to the grounds were closed, only the most pressing business was transacted at the executive office, and attaches and servants, all of whom Mrs. Wilson knew personally, showed their deep grief.

A procession of carriages bringing cards and callers from the official and diplomatic circles, circled around the White House office. On every hand throughout the capital, expressions of tender sympathy for the president were heard. Under the heavy strain of domestic relation, the situation at home resulting from the European crisis, the long hard vigil through the Mexican crisis, he worked unceasingly. His knowledge for the last three weeks that his wife was ill to death had added immeasurably to that burden, and yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock when the last faint flicker of life was extinguished, those who knelt at the bedside saw him give way to his grief, probably for the first time.

The end came while Mrs. Wilson was unconscious. Her illness took a turn for the worse shortly before 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and from then on she gradually grew weaker.

Kneeling at the bedside at the end were the president and their three daughters, Dr. Carey T. Grayson, U. S. N., and returned were in the room and just outside a door were Secretary McAdoo and Francis B. Sayre, Mr. Wilson's sons-in-law, and Mr. Tumulty, his secretary.

Definite arrangements for the funeral will not be made until after the arrival of Prof. Stockton Axson, Mrs. Wilson's brother, now on his way to Washington from Oregon.

It was thought probable at the White House that the funeral will be Monday at Rome, where Mrs. Wilson's mother and father are buried. The services in Washington while they will be simple, will be attended by committees from the senate and house, members of the cabinet, the supreme court and other officials.

The president spent a comparatively quiet night but according to those who saw him today, was feeling a reaction and a full realization of his loss.

Special telegraph operators were brought to the White House to receive the flood of messages which came from persons in every walk of life in every state. Most of them contained a reference to Mrs. Wilson's regard for the unfortunate. Many praised the president for his great bravery. George Howe of North Carolina, a nephew of the president, and Edward T. Brown of Atlanta, Ga., and other relatives arrived at the White House today. Joseph R. Wilson, a brother of the president, came over from Baltimore last night. Mrs. Edward Elliott, Mrs. Wilson's only sister, cannot come to Washington at present because of illness. She is in California.

The president sent direct word to the leaders of the senate and house and the heads of the government departments that it was his wish that the regular business continue and that the lowering of the flags to half

WILL BE COMPLETED.

Mauretania Designed With This End
In View—Passengers Will Return By Rail.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 7.—When the Cunard liner Mauretania was put into port here yesterday with 2400 passengers fleeing from Europe, again sails from Liverpool she will be fitted out as H. M. S. Mauretania and prepared to destroy the hostile shipping of Germany.

It was expected today that the Mauretania would soon return to Liverpool under convoy of British warships and that she would immediately be turned over to the admiralty for her equipment of quick fire rifles, a new coat of dark grey paint and white ensign.

Commerce destruction was the ultimate purpose for which the Mauretania was constructed. She was practically built for the admiralty and many features of warship construction were embodied in her hull. Her guns are in store in Liverpool. Every officer and the greater part of her crew are naval reserve men shipped with the special view of turning her into a warship in case of an emergency such as the present.

PASSENGERS TO TAKE A TRAIN TO NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Cunard line announced today that the passengers of the Mauretania which put into Halifax yesterday fearing capture by German warships, would be brought to New York by train, starting today. Some of the passengers, it was said, had left by train last night.

NEGROES TAKEN FROM THE JAIL AND LYNCHED

MONROE, La., Aug. 7.—Preston Griffin and Charles Hall, negroes, were taken from the local city hall tower early today and hanged by a mob, less than 24 hours before Henry Holmes was lynched near here, in connection with the same crime.

A. J. Madden, an aged grocer, was killed by burglars Wednesday night and Holmes was captured and lynched by a mob several hours later. He is said to have confessed and implicated the two other negroes in the crime.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

500 PERSONS ARRESTED

In Paris for Creating Disturbances Will Be Court Martialed—Steamboat Is Carrying Americans From Paris to Havre Today.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(Via London, 9:40 a. m.)—The minister of war announced that French troops have occupied Vic Meyenvic, small German town in Alsace-Lorraine, just over the border and about seventeen miles east of Nancy.

An official statement issued by the minister of war at midnight says that quiet reigns along almost the whole of the frontier. Mobilization and concentration of the French forces are proceeding satisfactorily. The Belgians have captured twenty guns from the Germans.

Five hundred persons were arrested during disturbances of the past few days and will be tried by court martial. The authorities are taking elaborate precautions to deal with any further disorders.

According to a semi-official communication, French diplomats in Germany are being badly treated throughout the country while French and Russian subjects returning to their own countries are insulted and molested by crowds and authorities as well.

The French ambassador at Berlin, Jules Cambon, is believed to still be at Mecklenburg.

A steamboat which has been chartered to carry Americans to Havre because of lack of train facilities, left Paris today. There are 75 Americans aboard.

The steamship will stop tonight at Nantes, tomorrow night at Rouen and will arrive at Havre on Saturday.

The minister of agriculture in co-operation with the principal millers, grain merchants and manufacturers of agricultural machinery, has organized an elaborate system to assure supplies for both the army and the civil population.

The mayors in the country districts are drawing lists of men and machines which will be concentrated where most needed for agricultural operations.

The minister of marine has placed 20,000 naval reservists too old to fight at the disposal of the farmers.

An appeal to the United States to protest against violations of The Hague treaties is made in today's Figaro by Gabriel Hanotoux, former minister of foreign affairs. He suggests that an inquiry should be begun immediately and proposes that President Wilson, Secretary of State Bryan, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Andrew Carnegie, Nicholas Murray Butler and Robert Bacon assume the duty.

He declares the fate of civilization to be in the hands of neutral powers. Quiet is reported from practically every point along the Franco-German frontier today. A strong force of German troops is known to occupy Luxembourg and it is officially announced here that the French troops which heretofore had kept at a distance of over five miles from the German frontier have crossed in small detachments at different points probably on reconnaissances.

Abel Ferry, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, has left for the front as a sergeant, taking his place with Edmond Rostand, Adolphe Messimy, the minister of war, Maurice Barres, the academician, and other notables.

A committee composed of former Premier Aristide Briand, Theophile Delcasse, former minister of foreign affairs and others was formed today to consider the question of food supply for the population.

Official reports received here say the German troops have entered the Belgian city of Liege, but have not been able to take the forts.

Fighting of the most violent character took place in the streets. The Belgian troops have captured 27 German cannon.

SAYS REGIMENT ANNIHILATED.

ROME, Aug. 7.—(Via London, 2:45 p. m.)—An unconfirmed despatch published by the Tribuna says the Austrian regiment was annihilated by Servians to the east of Belgrade and that the Austrians are in full retreat toward the Danube.

Kronprinzessin Cecilie at Head of Her Regiment.

The war fever has permeated the women of Germany as well as the men. Kronprinzessin Cecilie, who is an honorary colonel of a regiment in the German army is here shown at the head of her regiment marching through the streets of Berlin. The Kronprinzessin is one of the most popular women of Germany. In the several rows the crown prince, her husband, has had with the Kaiser, she has stood with the man she loved. When she and the crown prince rode down Unter den Linden Saturday night after the declaration of war against Russia, she was cheered to the echo.

DENIALS OF "REPULSE"

Of German Force Before
Belgian City of Liege
Come From Berlin By Way of Other Countries
—Screen Raised to Hide
French Developments.

WINSTON SPENCER Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty declared in the house of commons there had not been any fighting or losses other than had been announced officially. This statement ensued on reports of a naval battle between German and British ships received from several sources but the admiralty refused information.

It was regarded as significant that fishing fleets on the east coast of England were given permission to go out and fish.

Complete silence reigns as to military movements in both Germany and France, and it is assumed both armies are concentrating for decisive battles. No hint as to where they will come into contact has been given.

LIEGE, Belgium, was again attacked by German troops last night, but was still holding out. The report of a German reversal was denied in a despatch from Berlin.

The German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, obliged, owing to Italian neutrality, to leave San Salvatore, Sicily, have gone out to meet the British fleets.

The commanders are said to have handed their wills to the German consul before departure.

A London newspaper report says the German crown prince has been seriously injured by an unidentified assailant.

A Finn sea captain on arriving at Stockholm reported the Russian navy bottled up at Helsingfors and the Russian ports of Lithau and Reval to be burning, after an attack by German vessels. No confirmation.

Many German merchant vessels, were brought into English ports today by British cruisers. The Holland-Lloyd steamer Tubantia, with $2,500,000 from South America for the Deutsche bank in London, was also brought in.

French warships also captured several German merchant ships.

The French premier appealed to the women of France to gather the wheat and wine crops.

Tokio reports the German squadron at Tsing-Tau, China, hemmed in by British vessels.

The British tank steamer San Wilfredo is reported destroyed by a mine off Cuxhaven, Germany, and the British steamer Craigforth was beached near Constantinople after contact with a mine.

Stories of discounting in Germany to the dowager empress of Russia are declared false by the German foreign office.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Persistent reports of an important encounter between the German and British fleets maneuvering for strategic positions in the North Sea kept the British public in a state of agitation throughout the forenoon. The excitement was not allayed until the first lord of the admiralty made the official announcement in parliament that stories of fighting and losses other than those of the British cruiser Amphion and the German mine layer Koenigin Luise were unfounded.

News from the German side was extremely meagre, owing to the interruption of direct telegraphic communication. Denials came from Berlin by way of other countries of the "repulse" of the German forces before the Belgian city of Liege, where Belgian sources declare their attackers to have been badly checked with heavy losses.

Movements of the great aggregations of troops which must by this time have gathered at their springing off points on the German frontiers facing both the Russian and the French armies are kept from public knowledge. Military authorities here however, are of the opinion that preparations must be almost complete for a forward move which will give some indication of the plan of campaign to be followed out.

The French army authorities have also raised a heavy screen to hide their developments in their war movements. They seem entirely

German Army On the March in the Most Recent Manoeuvres.

This is a photograph of a part of a regiment of the wonderful German army, said by military experts to be the best organized the world has ever known. These soldiers are now marching into France with the hope of marching on to Paris as their forefathers did in the Franco-Prussian war. There have been various reports of battles on the frontier, but since telegraph and telephone wires have been cut it has been impossible to determine who has the advantage.

War News At a Glance

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, Aug. 7.—A despatch from Brendesi to the Giornale d'Italia, states that the Austro-Hungarian warship Taurus has taken refuge in the harbor there from English torpedo boats, which had pursued her. The Taurus is reported, is leaking. The Taurus is a small cruiser of 1280 tons displacement. For some time she was stationed at Constantinople.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Plymouth, England, Aug. 7.—(11.28 a. m.)—The British light cruiser Vindictive today captured the German steamer Schlesien and brought her into this port. The Schlesien was on the voyage from Brisbane, Australia, to Bremen.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Stockholm, Aug. 7.—(Via London, 3:10 a. m.)—The Dowager Empress Maria Fedorovna, has left for Russia, taking with her 600 refugees on a special train.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Aug. 7.—(7:10 a. m.)—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Messina, Sicily, says that the commanders of the German cruisers Beslau and Goeben, which are sailing out to meet the British fleet waiting outside the straits, first handed their wills and personal property into the keeping of the German consul.

MAY STOP THE SAILING OF 2 OCEAN LINERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Aug. 7.—The Olympic, crack ship of the White Star fleet, may not be permitted to sail tomorrow for Southampton, inasmuch as she belongs to the British naval reserve. After receiving the department of commerce instructions concerning enforcement of neutrality, customs officials declined today to say whether they would give her clearance.
The Red Star liner Vaterland, booking only male passengers for Belgium, and with her entire steerage, accommodating 2000 persons placed at the call of the Belgium consul here for reservists, may also be held, according to the customs officials.

NEWS

satisfied with the manner in which the men of the nation respond to the call to arms and they declare every preliminary move to have been carried according to the plans drafted by the popular commander-in-chief, General Joseph Joffre.

From the far off portions of the world where Germany, England and France have colonies all of which are in a state of defense, only brief despatches trickle over the wires. These indicate that small engagements have occurred, especially in Chinese waters where French, German, British and Russian war vessels are stationed. The most important news from that quarter is the report that the British squadron has hemmed in the German vessels at Tsing Tau, which is strongly fortified and has a numerous garrison of German troops.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George informed the House of Commons that the government was considering the question of taking over the harvest throughout the British Isles.

Winston Spencer Churchill first lord of the British admiralty, announced today in the House of Commons that there had been no fighting and no losses of any kind other than has already been officially made public.

The first lord said: "Apart from the loss of the small British cruiser Amphion and the German mine layer Koening Luise, there has been no other fighting and no other loss as far as we are aware."

"On Wednesday a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers while patrolling the upper reaches of the channel found the Koening Luise laying mines. The destroyers pursued and sank her. About fifty of her crew, which probably numbered 120 or 130 men, were humanely saved by the crews of the British destroyers.

"The Amphion continued to scout with the flotilla and while on the return journey was blown up by a mine. The indiscriminate use of mines not in connection with military, harbor or strategic positions and the dissemination of contact mines about the seas might of course destroy not only warships but peaceful merchant vessels under a neutral flag and possibly carrying supplies to a neutral country.

"This use of mines is new in warfare and deserves the attentive consideration not only of those of us who are engaged in war but of the nations of the civilized world.

"The admiralty is not at all alarmed or disconcerted by this incident." The admiralty yesterday issued the following:

"In the course of reconnoitering after the German mine layer Koening Luise was sunk this morning, the cruiser Amphion struck a mine and foundered. The fore part of the British ship was shattered by the explosion, and practically all of the loss of the crew ensued from this cause. All not killed by the explosion were taken off by the crews of the destroyers before the Amphion went down."

Twenty German prisoners of war who were confined in the fore part of the ship were killed. The line of mines was probably laid by the Koening Luise before she was sunk. They extended from Aldeburgh, Ride, to latitude 52.10, north, longitude 2.25 east.

A despatch to the Daily News from Newcastle, dated 7 a. m. today, says that a wireless message received at South Shields shortly before midnight states that the British fleet engaged the German high seas fleet in a heavy battle off the south Dogger banks.

After a general engagement along the battle line which extended for many miles and in which many ships on both sides took part, the German fleet was beaten back and moved in the direction of the coast of Holland.

It is now believed that the German fleet is completely hemmed in on the eastern side of the North Sea. All the rest of the sea is in the control of the British fleets. Support for this contention is found in the official permission given to fishing travelers to leave the Tyne ports, those of the Humber and other east coast fishing centers for the fishing grounds today. This had been forbidden for two days.

The surgeon in charge of the South Shields hospital received a wireless message last night asking what accommodations he had for the wounded. He replied that he could take care of 1,000 persons.

The correspondent of the Daily News at Brussels sends the following dispatch: "All the forts surrounding Liege are intact. A Belgian airplane thus describes the German attack on Liege. The German infantry approached en masse and reached the Glacis of the forts, where the heavy defensive guns were unable to reach them. General Leman sent artillery to a point where the invading infantry could be shelled and the Germans were swept from their position. This occurred several times during the day and night."

A patrol of U-boats performed a remarkable exploit by riding into the town. Belgian officers recognized them as Germans and a desperate fight ensued. Several on each side were killed.

"Red Cross automobiles arriving at Brussels report that the grounds before the forts are covered with dead and wounded Germans."

The Prince of Wales has been given a commission in the Grenadier guards and will go into active service, probably in England.

The financial district of London resumed almost its normal aspect today with the reopening of the banks. Interest centered around the Bank of England, where a gradually extending line of people gathered, anxious to exchange paper money for gold.

There was no great rush till noon. Reports from the provinces indicate that the British public is not losing its head as withdrawals have been small.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the American secretary of state, and wife of Captain Reginald A. Owen, of the royal engineers, today issued an appeal for the assistance of the American press in collecting contributions in aid of British subjects suffering privations through the war. Subscriptions, she says, will be applied without delay to organized relief.

The response to Field Marshal Earl Kitchener's appeal for recruits for the English army surpasses anything in the memory of British military men. Huge crowds of all ages and all stations of life, silk hatted men and poorly clothed laborers stood in long lines all day in front of the recruiting stations awaiting their turn to go before the medical officer.

Dr. Hans Plehn, correspondent of the German telegraphic news agency who had been placed under arrest, was released today after he had satisfied the police that he was not a spy. He has decided to return to Germany.

A despatch from Queenstown states that the Celtic sailed from there today for New York after embarking 250 passengers who were glad to be allowed to occupy the steerage.

The authorities in Washington have been asked to appoint some official body to dispense the appropriations coming on board the Tennessee. The street in front of the American consulate were again filled with Germans today waiting to register their names and addresses. There was no disorder.

HARD CASE OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

"It is as impossible for him to recover as it is to empty the ocean." These were the doctor's words to the partner of Andrew C. Larsen, of Sorenson & Larsen, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Larsen was down with Bright's disease. Was water logged, having been tapped twice, and the doctor advised his partner to fix up his affairs. This was in 1904.

The treatment was changed to Fultons' Renal Compound, and in March, 1905, patient was back to business, to the surprise of his physician and everyone else.

As to permanence, a letter from Larsen dated February, 1911, six years later, said: "I am in perfect health—haven't had a sick day for several years."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

A few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur brings back its vigor, color, gloss and thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair, beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. ## OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLDS OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharge and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight, struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous droppings into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. F. D. Hall, 10 North Side Square, Newark, O.

EUROPEAN WAR HAS AFFECTED LOCAL MARKETS

The local markets are beginning to feel the effects of the European war, and it is altogether probable that food stuffs will rapidly rise, as well as other commodities, which will be needed for the sustenance of large bodies of men and animals.

Sugar has made a leap of at least 25 cents per sack, butter is much higher, lemons, oranges and flour, for the most part, are also in the list of increased prices. This rise in sugar is approximately 1 cent per pound.

Baled hay is $2 higher than a couple of weeks ago and in this form, if it is needed, it will be exported.

A glance over the list of Newark prices as corrected in tonight's paper, will show a number of changes and providers may be impressed with the trend of the market.

CONTINUOUS IS FIGHTING AT MAZATLAN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
On Board United States Steamship California, Mazatlan, Mex., Aug. 6.—(Via wireless to San Diego, Calif., Aug. 7.—All last night and today there has been continuous fighting between the besieging constitutionalists and the federal garrison, defending Mazatlan. The insurgents have succeeded in capturing all the outer defenses of the city. The federal forces exhausted their ammunition but obtained fresh supplies from the transports in the bay.

WANT RESTORATION OF AMERICAN FLAG ON THE HIGH SEAS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Aug. 7.—A meeting of the national foreign trade council has been called for Monday to discuss plans for the further relief of the tourist and commercial congestion in Europe resulting from the war. Many men foremost in the financial and shipping circles of the country will be in attendance. A report by the merchants marine committee, dealing with subjects pertaining to the entire domestic and foreign trade is expected to open the way for the proposal of measures looking to the restoration of the American flag on the high seas.

Members of the council who are advocates of a greater merchant marine have seized upon the European war and the opening of the Panama canal as added reasons for the establishment of a trans-Atlantic line operated by an American company. Attempts will also be made, it is said, to induce congress to pass legislation favorable to American shipping and ship building.

GEERS DRIVES ETAWAH TO A RECORD MILE

Grand Rapids, Aug. 7.—Etawah, who two weeks ago at Cleveland, broke the 4-year-old colt record held by Directum for 21 years, clipped another quarter of a second from the mark at yesterday's Grand Circuit meet when, driven by Geers in an exhibition mile, he covered the distance in 2:03 3/4.

King Comstock easily won the $6000 Constock stake for 2:11 pacers in straight heats. He reeled off the first one in 2:03 3/4. After finishing poorly in two heats of the 2:08 pace, Omar showed surprising speed and captured the next three.

The handicap sweepstake was won by Grace, who started 162 feet back of the wire, the greatest handicap. The race was the greatest handicap. The race was the greatest handicap. The race was the greatest handicap.

It is predicted that by 1915 Western Canada will produce 600,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. The population is increasing more rapidly than the railroad development, and there is serious apprehension that it will not be possible to handle the enormous crops.

Residents of Wallace, Idaho, assert that the destruction of the forests near there has almost caused a water famine in the locality. The flow of one stream, they declared was cut from 1000 miners' inches—the unit of measurement—to less than 250 miners' inches.

FIRST STATE-WIDE PRIMARY IN OHIO OCCURS TUESDAY

State-wide primaries are to be held next Tuesday from which will be chosen noniness of both great parties for state and county offices.

The Democratic and Republican ballots are made up on separate sheets of two columns each and are in the regular form of the Australian ballot. There is no circle or emblem at the head of the ballot and the voter must place an X at the left (in a small ruled space) of the name of each candidate for whom he wishes to vote.

Where there are two or more candidates for one office the names appear in alphabetical order, and under the designation of the office appears a direction as to the number to be voted for in the nominating primary. If more names are marked than there are nominations to be made for any one office, that section of the ballot is not to be counted.

At the bottom of the ballot is either the name of a candidate for member of the county central committee or a blank space for writing in a name. Each precinct is to select one man for member of this committee, which the law makes the governing committee of the party in the county, the executive committee being appointed by this committee and existing merely to conduct the campaign.

Polls will be open the usual hours next Tuesday.

Military Auto Truck Used to Mobilize Czar's Army.

All through the vast country districts of Russia not covered by railroads hundreds of military auto trucks like these were sent out. These autos are now speeding all over Russia among peasants who Thursday night to bring in the harvest of the enormous army of the Czar. Once the order for the mobilization of 1,280,000 troops was issued it became necessary to bring the farmers and the moujikis into barracks. Even where there were railroads the trucks were used, because no road would possess the cars necessary to gather such a vast crowd, the largest army ever assembled on earth.

Profit for United States.

A great war in Europe will probably bring economic advantages to the United States. It will enable it to sell its great crops in places which will give a much greater income than if there were no war.

Almost every industry will derive more or less advantage. American investors and bankers should get in much profit from the ability to buy back from Europe great quantities of securities at attractive prices in payment for the foodstuffs and raw material exported from the United States.

The United States can become the world's greatest market for capital, and, if the American people rise to their opportunity, they can do a great deal to mitigate the disastrous economic consequences which would otherwise result in many countries from a great European war.

It is possible that the United States may participate in the great loans that will have to be raised in Europe if almost the whole continent becomes engaged in war. Possibly the participation will be indirect rather than direct.—London Statist.

KATHRYN ELIZABETH HORTON
Little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Horton of Granville, Ohio.

A little four-year-old most attractive little fairy, suddenly lost interest in Sunday school. She had enjoyed so much learning about Moses that her mother could not understand the change of attitude. "Why don't you want to go daughter?" she asked. "Oh," was the astonishing reply, "I don't like to go to Sunday school since Moses died."—Woman's Home Companion.

By the Way

By telling it something everybody knows an orator nearly always can inspire his audience with enthusiasm.

Tank Beverly, who has watched a good many murder trials, says he can outline Mrs. Carman's defense now. Tank says Mrs. Carman's defense will be that she is a "frail little woman."

A promoter's salary is paid by the people who employ him. His commissions are paid by those who listen to him.

The experience of men is that most of the cheery, home conversation relates to the fact that the milkman was late and that fresh vegetables are higher in price than ever before.

If a man lives in a small town he must bet on the home team or be considered disloyal to his community.

Here is another infallible symptom. When a woman really loves her husband she shows it by waiting on him.

It can at least be said for the Indian that he never tries to "make" conversation.

The man who wants his money to go a long way might try taking a trip around the world.

A mother never knows how old-fashioned she is until her daughter comes home from school.

It is the things that are said behind your back that prevent conversation from becoming monotonous.

The following advertisement appeared the other day on the first page of the London Times: "Americans please note. A marquis with an invalid mother needing great care, will sell her right to an old European title. What are the offers?"

The President's Grief.

The entire nation grieves with President Wilson in the irreparable loss he has sustained in the death of his wife which occurred late Thursday afternoon. The country was shocked, and entirely unprepared for the announcement of his terrible bereavement as it was not generally known that Mrs. Wilson was ill until Wednesday, and certainly not near to death.

The public mind for the past several months has been occupied with the consideration of momentous events, and turned constantly to the President as a public man, whose dealing with these very happenings was a subject of common concern.

The Mexican situation had become acute, and the President's policy was subjected to the closest attention; some sympathetic, others critical. A solution had about been reached when the executive was face to face with the greatest diplomatic and practical crisis, that has confronted the United States for half a century, the European war.

There were domestic lines of action which he had planned and was directing whose effects are to be far reaching. Through all this he has proven himself a man of great conception, high ideas, executive force and well balanced mental processes. But in this survey of the intellectual President, people probably forgot the kind, loving husband, whose heart was torn and bleeding with this private wound, for which no earthly honor, nor consciousness of public approval could be a healing balm.

This is the crisis which will test to the utmost every quality of his great manhood.

There is none to aid, advise or share in this crushing sorrow. He must bear it alone, as far as human endurance can, then throw himself for succor on the poignancy of his grief, upon the God he has so long and faithfully trusted, "doeth all things well."

Aug. 7 in American History.

1705—Joseph Rodman Drake, poet, born; died 1820.

1804—Federal cavalry led by General W. W. Averell defeated mounted Confederates under General J. A. McCausland and General Bradley T. Johnson at Moorefield, W. Va. General P. B. Sheridan arrived in the Shenandoah valley to lead the Federal campaign against Jubal Early.

1808—Spain accepted the terms of peace imposed by the United States.
1912—Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson nominated by the Progressive national convention.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Evening stars: Venus, Mars, Morning stars: Saturn, Mercury, Jupiter. Close to the northwestern horizon in stars of constellation Leo appear in an irregular line, about 9 p. m.

thetic people goes with him, to mingle a petition for fortitude to bear this trial, and comfort in his sore distress.

Suffrage Close at Hand.

The New York Times which is far from a suffrage organ, plays alarm clock to those who may think that votes for women is a remote issue. It says:

"The control of the House of Representatives to be elected this fall may be determined by the votes of women. The next Presidential election may be determined by the votes of women. It is within the bounds of possibility though not of probability, that the suffrage states will have more than a majority of the next Electoral College. Harrison was elected by 85 majority votes, Cleveland by 37, Garfield 59; the suffrage states already have 52 votes. This total may be increased to 149 by the elections this fall."

"But even with the present electoral vote of 52 the suffrage states can decide a Presidency. What is of more immediate practical effect, they can decide the control of the House of Representatives. In this lies the explanation of the way in which politicians are falling over each other to endorse votes for women. Speaker Clark and Secretary Bryan are the latest converts. The question comes up this year in their respective states, Missouri and Nebraska. As fast as it comes up in other states, we may expect to see the leaders rush into line and drag their followers after them."

"We venture the prediction that the platforms of both the great parties in 1916 will contain planks advocating woman suffrage, and that at least one of them will advocate it by national constitutional amendments. It will be for them a question of hard practical politics. They will do it because they will not dare do otherwise."

In war even the winners are losers. The slaughter now in progress in Europe should make every American thankful that a strong and wise man is at the head of the United States government and that he succeeded in driving Huerta out of Mexico without bringing to this country the misery of an armed conflict.

Having heard from folks at home, those standpat mourners who attended the recent "wake" at Olenfany Park in Columbus did not enthuse worth a cent when Major Ralph D. Cole made the fatal blunder of ripping into the forward measures that Governor Cox has placed on the statute books.

Paragraphs

Merchant Marine.

The need of having ships upon the seas under their own flag has been strongly brought home to the American people during the last few days. The dangerously unbalanced condition of the ocean-carrying trade of the world because American vessels were not doing any material part of it has been illustrated with startling force. ***—Chicago Herald.

Wisdom.

The United States has in actual gold metal almost as much as any other two nations together. That illustrates the wisdom of not going to war.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Wilson's Attitude.

President Wilson's offer of mediation in the European conflict, either now or later, makes perfect the attitude of this country. It is neutral in the war because it is the friend of all the belligerents. It might profit by the hostilities, but it is eager for peace. It reproaches no nation, but would help any or all. ***—Columbus Dispatch.

Blame the President.

There is plenty of precedent for expecting the Republicans to blame European war and starvation on President Wilson.—Dayton News.

Italy Is Right.

Italy, after figuring up the cost of the late unpleasantness, is for peace.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Worth Copying.

Great is the Ohio Legislature. It met in special session, reduced taxes and adjourned before sundown. Every state wants the pattern.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Political Note.

"Let me plow this field." "Thanks." "I'm canvassing this district for Congress," said the willing worker, after finishing the field. "Do you own this fine farm?" "Oh, no," replied the other man. "I'm the candidate on the other ticket. The farmer has gone to town, but I assured him the field would be plowed by the time he got back."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Europe Very Remote.

Europe today for practical purposes is almost as remote and isolated from America as it was when Columbus pointed his caravels into the unknown western seas. Thousands of Americans marooned in Europe find themselves confronted not alone with uncertainty as to their return to America but also in many instances with even the greater loss of being unable to communicate with friends on this side of the Atlantic. *** The senseless cables lying on the floors of the mighty ocean *** have been severed and are voiceless. *** Under such conditions it is little to be marveled at that the newspapers of America are having difficulty in securing information of the stirring events that are transpiring on the other side. The difficulty is heightened by the imposition of strict government censorship, particularly in Germany. The fact that such news as is being received comes through countries hostile to that nation may account in part for the uniformly unfavorable nature of the accounts of German progress in the war's progress. *** Every effort is being made to secure authentic information only. *** Never since the introduction of telegraphy have newspapers been beset with such difficulties as now confront them.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Luke-McLuke

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

Every time you get into a crowd you are reminded of the fact that there is too much cheap talcum powder and not enough soap sold these days.

No man ever has the Big Time he expected to have when his wife goes out of town.

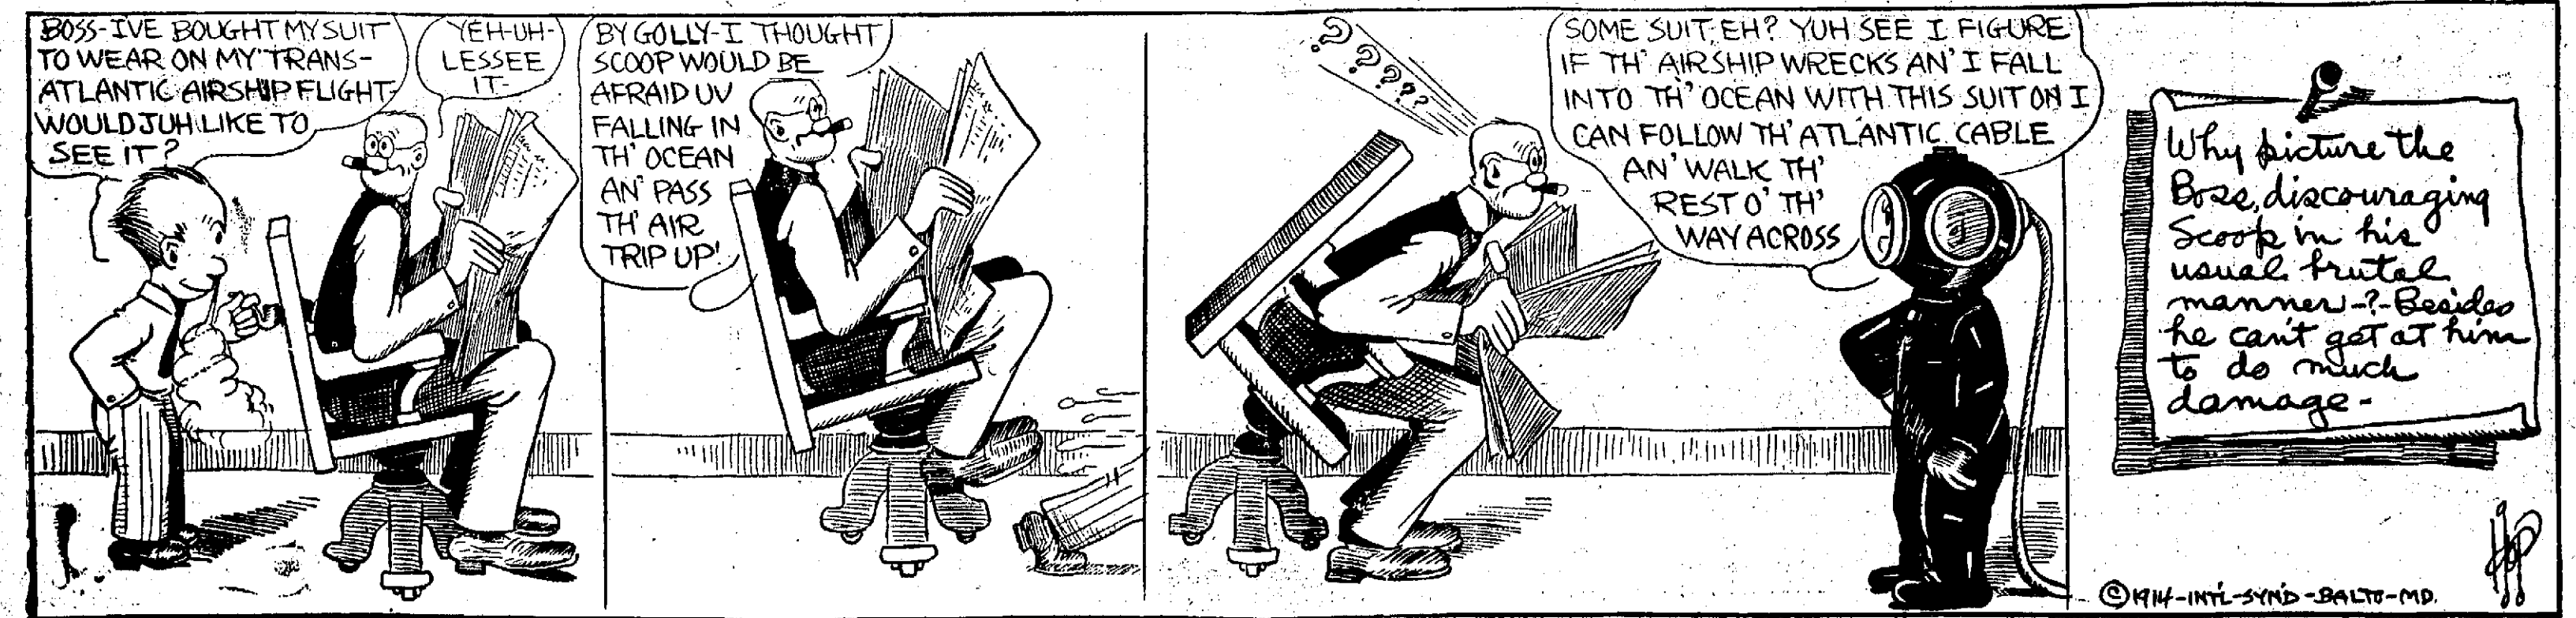

The fellow who seems to enjoy your jokes is always so busy laughing at them that he forgets to do any ordering and lets you do all the buying.

Exercise is great stuff. The man who can walk on the golf links for five hours with a club in his hand is usually too weak to walk a bedroom floor for five minutes with a baby in his arms.

WATER WASTE BY BATHERS AT STATION

IS BECOMING DANGEROUS TO CITY, AS ENGINES MAY BE PUT OUT

Mayor Higbee Fines Several for Tampering With Dam Gates
At Supply Head.

Mayor Higbee took the first step toward breaking up the depredations of bathers in the North Fork above the water works station, which have become annoying and dangerous in their possible consequences.

On Friday morning several men were fined $5 and costs in police court, for tampering with the water works dam, and as this is their first offense, as well as the first time any prosecution has been made, the mayor was inclined to be lenient, but his firm in his determination to make any other misdemeanors of a like character more costly to those who are found guilty.

From the backwater in the dam in the river, the pumping station is dependent for a supply and right now when the creek is low, it is no more than a supply of water for the purpose of keeping a good head on the regular city consumption.

The gates of the dam are made of three inch planks, and bathers have been in the habit of taking out these planks and letting the water flow over their bodies.

This lowers the level in the dam, and on Thursday afternoon, it became so low that the engines were pumping muddy water.

Service Director W. H. Christian stated that it was discovered just in time to prevent a shutdown, which would have consumed an hour to remedy, and in the meantime the city would have been at the mercy of a big conflagration.

The persons there yesterday afternoon had been told to let these planks alone, and for some time Walter Kussmaul was on guard but as soon as he left, the same thing was done. The arrests followed.

This will be seen to be a matter of importance to the city, and it must be stopped. To this end Mayor Higbee is to co-operate with the service department and failure to heed the warning given, will bring down punishment upon those guilty.

During the dry season the city consumption is at the limit, and every available drop of water in the creek at the point of the pumping station is needed. The waste by bathers is unnecessary, and after warnings a repetition of ill border on the malicious, to be dealt with by the mayor accordingly.

Canceling a Muslim Divorce.

It is well known that under the Moslem religion divorce is made remarkably easy and that there is no need for any legal or religious formalities—a man being able, so to speak, to divorce his wife by word of mouth. This facility has given rise to unpleasant results, as when a man in a burst of anger, while drunk, divorces his wife, and then bitterly repents of his rashness. One such incident happened recently in upper Egypt. It is related that a fellah appealed to his omelch to help him to regain his wife, against whom he had pronounced the fatal words.

The omelch told him to traverse the streets of his village for two hours braying like an ass, and to eat chopped straw as an ass does, when he would be absolved from his divorce, without needing to go before the omelch. The fellah carried out the order to the letter, and then returned to his wife, fully convinced that he had done ample penance for his impetuosity.—Boston

Built Upon Cotton.

When the Lonslow lighthouse, England, was built on the sandy Writal shore the builders were puzzled by the lack of a suitable foundation for the masonry tower. An ingenious way out of the difficulty was effected. In the vicinity an incoming ship, laden with a cargo of cotton, had gone ashore and had become a total wreck. The cotton was useless for its intended purpose, so the bales were salvaged and dumped into the sand at the point where the lighthouse was to be erected. The fleece mass settled into the sand and under compression became as solid as a rock, while its permanency was assured by its complete submersion. The stability of this strange foundation may be gathered from the fact that the tower erected thereon stood and shed its welcome light regularly every night for about a century and a half, being extinguished only a few years ago as it was no longer required.—Argonaunt.

Corsica and De Paoli.

While the island of Corsica derives its fame from being the birthplace of Napoleon, the name of Pasquale de Paoli is more dear to the natives, for it was under the leadership of this patriot, in 1755, that they escaped from the yoke of the Genoese. For fourteen years he wisely administered the affairs of the island. In 1769 France bought the island from Genoa and landed an army of 20,000, which Paoli met with a few thousand Corsicans and fought until his army was reduced to 837 men; yet he cut his way through and escaped to England, where he remained twenty years. At the outbreak of the revolution in France he returned to his native land and became military governor, but he could not get on with his old enemy, so he returned to England, where he died in 1807.

The Earwig.

There is no insect which has puzzled naturalists as to its proper classification more than the earwig. Some have asserted that it belongs to the beetles, of which it is an "aberrant type," others that it is connected with the grasshoppers. Even about its very name there has been endless discussion.
Some have thought the name earwig is the result of the creature's supposed habit of getting into the ears, while others are equally certain that it is derived from the original name, which they say was earwing, from the fact that the wing when spread resembles the human ear. At all events, one thing is certain—the earwig, as we know it now, is a survival of an early type of which almost every other member has become extinct.

Many Uses For Old Leather.

Old leather material, which finds its way into the waste pile, is extremely valuable and returns to our homes in many other shapes. It is soaked in water to remove the dirt, all the nails and threads are picked out, and the leather is reduced to a thick pulp, from which wall papers, screens, etc., are made. The finer the original quality of leather the better it takes the bronze and old gold of the designs which make these hangings things of beauty.
Bookbinders and framemakers also know the value of this pulp, and carriage builders press it into sheets.

Pat's reply.

What the Robin Eats.

In the northern and southern parts of the west the robin is among the most cherished of native birds. It is an omnivorous feeder, and its food includes many orders of insects as well as earth worms, but 58 per cent of its food is derived from vegetable matter.
The principal item being fruit. The general usefulness of the bird is such, however, that protecting orchards and fruit should be tried before the policy of killing them is determined on.

Oyster Divers.

Oysters are obtained in various ways.
At Minorca, in the Mediterranean, the fishermen simply dives to a depth of seventy feet, with a weight in one hand to carry him down. With the other hand he picks up as many oysters as he can carry and brings them to the surface.—London Telegraph.

Radishes.

Radishes originated in China, where they have been cultivated for many centuries and sometimes grow as big as a man's head. In Germany the old fashioned country mothers cure hoarseness and cough with radish juice mixed with sugar candy.

Eggs of the Alligator.

Alligators' eggs are eaten in the West India islands and on the west coast of Africa. They resemble in shape a hen's egg and have much the same taste, but are larger. More than a hundred eggs have been found in one alligator.

'Gets-It' for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. Corns Shovel Vanish.
Until "GETS-IT" was born, nobody was ever sure of getting rid of a corn.
Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, some were more liquid, some pastes, some "wipers."

and some in salve form. Now comes "GETS-IT" with a new discovered formula—the corn cure on a new principle and a simple plan that never fails. This is why "GETS-IT" has grown in three years to be the biggest-selling corn cure the world has ever known.

There's no more need of fussing with corns, no more digging, or cutting.
There's nothing to press down on the corn, nothing to inflame the flesh, it pulls the corn out, and the nail. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callous, wart or bunion.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Women Can Get Ballot Quicker Through the States Than They Can Through Congress

By American Press Association.

CHAMP CLARK In Address to Senators

WOMAN suffrage is as inevitable as the rising of tomorrow's sun.
For six thousand years men have been trying to run the world, and some people think we have made a bad mess of it. If you women run it I hope you will improve over us.

YOU'RE GOING AT THIS THING IN THE RIGHT WAY. THE FIRST ARTICLE OF THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION PROVIDES THAT EVERY ONE SHALL HAVE THE RIGHT TO PETITION CONGRESS OR
THE GOVERNMENT. I HOPE THAT YOU WILL CONTINUE IN THE PEACEABLE METHODS YOU ARE NOW USING.

The only question for you folks to consider is how you can expeditiously get what you want because I think you are going to get it. My own judgment is that you can get it quicker through the states than through congress. At the rate you are going now it looks to me as if you might get it in three, four or five years.

MY OWN POSITION, AND I MIGHT AS WELL MAKE THAT CLEAR TO YOU NOW BECAUSE I HAVE GOT TO DO IT SOME TIME, IS THAT I THINK WOMEN SHOULD VOTE. WHENEVER IT IS SUBMITTED IN MISSOURI I AM GOING TO VOTE FOR IT. WHEN YOU DO GET THE VOTE I HOPE THAT YOU WILL VOTE FOR THE BEST PRINCIPLES AND THE BEST MEN.

Cool Food for Hot Days

Better health comes with less meat and greasy food during the warm weather.

By proper and pleasant food one can feel cooler than his over-fed neighbor.

Grape-Nuts

and Cream

—some fruit and a soft-boiled egg, or two is sufficient for the hot weather breakfast

An ordinary portion of Grape-Nuts and cream contains nourishment to sustain one until the noonday meal, and being a partially pre-digested food, it does not over-tax the stomach and heat the system, as do heavy, greasy foods.

These suggestions, if followed, should show that one can have a cool body, active brain and energy—even in hot weather.

Continued dry weather had a bullish effect on corn. There was a brief but decided sag, though, when wheat was on the downgrade. Opening prices, which were 1-2 to 1 higher, were followed by the wiping out of all the gain and later by a substantial fresh advance.

Oats were governed principally by corn. Business was light.

Scarcities of offerings resulted in provisions being bid up rapidly. First transactions were 10 to 50 higher, and the rise seemed likely to continue.

High dives and other free attractions are holding the crowds afternoon and night. A slack wire artist doing daring stunts from a cable is proving a big feature.

Many Newark people are taking in the attractions.

BRITISH CRUISER BARELY MISSED A RICH WAR PRIZE

(Associated Press Telegram)
San Francisco, Aug. 7.—The German freighter Alexandria of the Cosmos line with a million dollar cargo, was sighted five miles off the head, bound in at 10:50 a. m. today. Had the British cruiser Rainbow, which passed in two hours and twenty minutes earlier been delayed, she might have made a rich prize of war.

The Rainbow put in here and the Collector Davis sent out boarding officers to learn her intentions. Under the neutrality laws she can take only sufficient coal to make another port and she may not remain here more than 24 hours.

Who Remembers Canal Boat Picnic At Black Hand in '57?

(By Joseph Simpson.)

In the year 1857, or thereabouts, a coterie of well-to-do folks in Newark decided upon a day's jollity—an excursion by boat to Black Hand. The canal packet (?) boat "Coalport" had been chartered and put in prime condition from stem to stern for this eventful occasion, all the arrangements being under the supervision and command of Capt. Leonidas McDougal, late of the U. S. Navy, who had sailed the seas—and who had taken part in the bombardment of Vera Cruz and the capture of the City of Mexico in our former war with that nation. Also, later, captain in the Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and the first man in his town to draw a sword for suppression of the great rebellion. He lost his life in the hard fought battle of Perryville, Ky. Hats off, boys! It was determined that the captain's past naval experience well fitted him as chief in command on this occasion.

James Wiley's excellent bands—both brass and string—of which the writer was a member, were present. They added tone and excellence to the occasion. It was said also (sub rosa) that the gentlemen of the wind instruments and the drums, in their lute passages, caused the welkin to ring loudly to the gratification of all on board and of the inhabitants of Licking's famous and fertile valley. Taking it all in all, everything proved to be quite "rick-a-shay," as Charles Underwood used to say. When the "Coalport" was new she ranked way up. She was safe in transportation of coal, corn on the cob, and human freight. She had speed, and frequently after frequently (after the late Grif Rosebraugh) the "Coalport" was likened unto Flora Temple, the Queen of the Turf. Across her bows was delicately painted in bold black letters:

CAN'T BE BEAT.

which meant something in canal boat parlance, especially when the right to enter a lock was in dispute and there were fighting crews aboard. Her midship had been profusely decorated and provided with two long seats, facing each other, leaving ample room between for dancing.

A merrier party could not have been found than the one which boarded the "Coalport" that cloudy morning. Captain McDougal felt uneasy while viewing the weather conditions and took occasion to discuss the matter with one Samuel Clark, a well known colored citizen who happened to be present. Sam was a character, and was the owner of a rickety old wagon and dilapidated old horse named Chawles. Sam sometimes addressed this steed as "Go-long-chain-breaker." They often visited Chatham and other nearby towns as common carriers, and at times Clark would promise Chawles a pumpkin or a peck of oats when they got dar'.

The "Coalport" rested securely at her dock near the present county jail, at Third street. There was no dallying, for time was precious and a long trip ahead. Amid waving handkerchiefs and joyous cheers the "Coalport" cleared her moorings while the band played that inspiring and appropriate air, "A Life on the Ocean Wave." The rush of water while filling and emptying the town lock was of great interest to the ladies, many being frightened as the boat gradually settled to the bottom. Dancing was in order, the midship was soon alive with eager dancers, and joy was unconfined. All went merry except when the boat would occasionally bump against an obstruction. This would partially display and mix up the dancers, and would cause more merriment. "Low bridge" was a signal not to go unheeded. One member of the band was able to bear witness to this with a severely injured nose and the crushing of his instrument. In a newspaper report of the time it was humorously stated that this bandman "received as much brass in his face as would serve a Philadelphia lawyer for a year."

DR. HAMILL SINGS.

An interesting bit of humor was introduced during a lull in the dance. Dr. Hamill, who was known to be a fair singer, was induced to entertain the party with a song. After a few excuses he decided to attempt "Kitty Clyde," a popular song of the day, provided Professor Wiley would vouch an accompaniment on his violin. They had no notes before them and had not rehearsed and they proceeded only with a general promise that if any balks should occur in the rendition of the song the listeners would take it in good part and not jump overboard. The words following may not be an exact copy of the original as they are given from memory:

KITTY CLYDE.

Oh, who does not know Kitty Clyde
Who lives at the foot of the hill?
In a sly little nook by a babbling brook
There lives my own Kitty Clyde.
With a basket to put in her fish
As she tripped along the brook side,
Oh how I do wish that I was a fish
To be caught by my own Kitty Clyde.
Chorus:—
Oh Kitty, dear Kitty, my own my sweet Kitty Clyde,
In a sly little nook by a babbling brook
There lives my own Kitty Clyde.

During the song's rendition a wave of merriment possessed the crowd, with down right laughter by some. The Doctor was displeased for he knew the song was not of a comic nature. At its close, upon turning around, there stood the tall, lank Ben Wilson, red handed, with a broom in his hand in imitation of a banjo accompanist. The Doctor, with a half smile of disgust, seized the broom and began belaboring Ben until he cried for mercy. Then in half anger the Doctor pitched his weapon overboard.

Bowling Green Spring was where we made our first real stop. It was a noted place where boatmen skated their thirst and replenished their water barrels with excellent water for cooking and drinking purposes. The next stop was at the upper Licking Lock, the head of slack-water navigation. There was a country store here, also a furniture repair shop conducted by Esquire Dowling. There was another feature here known as a Rope Ferry. A long strong rope was stretched across the river and made fast to trees on either side. A scow boat that would safely carry two horses and a loaded wagon was ingeniously rigged with a rope, a windless and pulleys which could be so adjusted that the force of the rushing waters of the river against the slanting side of the boat would drive or push it across from one shore to the other backwards or forwards as desired. In the store referred to there was another attraction. Seated comfortably there were two country boys, violins in hand, with their pants stuck into the tops of their stogy boots. One of them exhibited more than ordinary skill in the handling of his difficult instrument and to him it seemed quite easy to play either right or left handed. He could change the violin from one shoulder to the other, also the bow from one hand to the other (ambidextrous). The names of these boys answered to were Bob Dowling and Caney Perry. Their playing was subject for much wonder and comment.

Here we locked down into the river that we might enjoy sailing between the high frowning walls termed The Narrows, where the river for centuries has been wearing a passage through the solid rock to lower grounds two miles further on in order to empty a lake or sea above that covered the broad Licking valley, including the territory now occupied by the city of Newark.

LICKING NARROWS.

The Licking Narrows has always been an interesting place to visit and has served the general public for many generations as a pleasure spot. Alas! the vandal has accomplished much in his efforts to destroy the beauties that once existed here. With its high pine covered tops, and over-hanging vines, its miniature dripping caves, palisades and moss covered boulders where one could sit and rest with comfort and watch the slow moving waters of the dam, it all made a picture worth seeing.

A WONDERFUL ECHO.

Upon entering the river an amusing echo story was told. Opposite a slanting field that reached to the water's edge, and beneath a grateful shade, a workman was enjoying his noon-day lunch. Upon the deck of a passing boat a young couple were promenading. The young man was trying to explain to his much interested partner the phenomenon of the echo, one of which could be heard, it was said within the walls of The Narrows. "For instance," said he, and at the top of his voice shouted: "Hello! Hello! What are you doing up there?" Instantly the man with the hoe jumped to his feet staring wildly, and in old Licking dam dialect answered: "None o' your business. What are youins up to down thar?" To the disgust of the promenaders, loud laughter followed from the others who patiently waited for the promised echo.

COOK'S ROCK.

After getting under way again the first object of interest was Cook's Rock, a solitary hindrance to navigation, resting in mid-channel and becoming dangerous at flood tide or when lost to sight by a heavy rain. Normally it stood about one foot out of water. The cook aboard a first-class boat, generally of the gentler sex was often a person of much importance. At times when cooks thought they were not fully appreciated or remunerated they went on strike, as cooks often do ashore. Once upon a time an unpleasantness of this kind occurred between the commander of the canal boat "Northern Light" and his culinary assistant. Things did not please her ladyship and she became cross and obstreperous. To save words the captain gently slid his struggling helpmeet, baggy slid, his struggling helpmeet, baggy slid, and all, fairly on top of this rock—and it raining, with the prospect of a sudden rise. The heartless skipper drew in his gang-plank and ordered the driver to go ahead, leaving the madam to the mercy of the elements, including the waters of Licking dam. Likely, it happened that the "Aurora Borealis," a north-bound craft loaded with hoop poles, hove to and rescued the garrulous, tearful but non-repentant sister, permitting her to ride extra to the next boat needing a cook. Thus "Cook's Rock" became celebrated.

The balance of the trip of the "Coalport" was of continued interest and beauty and the famous Black Hand Rock soon appeared in view. Expressions of wonder admiration and curiosity were heard from all quarters. Upon arrival they found a huge stone formation, as big as a good sized house—an island in fact, when there was plenty of water at hand. Everybody was ravenously hungry upon landing and the signal for dinner was a most welcome sound. The feast was to be celebrated on top of the rock, which was always the proper thing to do and there was a general scramble to get there. The trail was steep and rough herbage. The climb was fun though, and the dinner was passed with good victuals and much laughter.

Fishing was now in order, with plenty of bait and tackle. But there were no poles worth speaking of, and as a consequence those which appeared were of great variety. As a rule the poles were short, crooked, and some were exceedingly thick as if culled from a pile of cord wood. One patient fisherman used a barrel stave. One young man was complimented when he appeared with a string of four small sun-fish, and was hailed as the champion of the day. Later his catch was the occasion of comment and the object of suspicion. It was said that a small boy with a small string of fish had been seen hanging around when the boat arrived, but did not stay long. A silver hook was hinted at.

Fishing was poor and tiresome and after a short consultation those chieftain command decided upon an early departure for home. The band played "Home, Sweet Home," and all seemed ready and willing to go. And soon the "Coalport" was buffeting the turbulent waters of Licking dam.

MONEY MUSK.

The light fantastic was again in order, but of a different class from that on the way out—one that stirs old memories—not the quadrille, but the delightful, swinging old time "Money Musk" where the ladies and gents array themselves in lines facing each other, anxiously awaiting the director's commands: "All ready. First couple swing once and a half round and go below one couple. Forward and back six and swing your partner," &c.

Who is there of the present generation that doubts the joy contained in that dance when good music is at hand? None.

It is hardly necessary to continue the narrative when so near home and supper. We might dwell on the subject but forbear.

Prof. Wiley thought it proper that after passing through the City's Gates (lock gates) and while the "Coalport" was proudly swinging into her accustomed moorings the band should play that exquisite old "true practical melody

LICKING COUNTY CANDIDATE FOR APPELLATE JUDGE

The legislature of Ohio, on May 10, 1911, Volume 102, Ohio Laws, page 132, established a distinct reform in the reversal of verdicts and judgments on account of technical errors when substantial justice had been done by the parties. This law was written by Edward Kibler, candidate for judge of the court of appeals in this district, and its passage was personally urged by him before committees of the legislature. The law was approved by Governor Harmon. It provides that reviewing court shall not reverse verdicts and judgments which are right, no matter what or how many technical errors may have occurred at the trial in the court below, but that the verdict or judgment must be affirmed, where substantial justice has been done, and requires the reviewing court to ignore the errors and affirm the judgment. This law has greatly reduced the amount of useless litigation and introduced a conspicuous element of common sense in the administration of the law.

Mr. Kibler had the law introduced in the legislature of 1909, but it failed to pass, but his persistency in urging its passage in successive legislatures was finally rewarded.

This law has special application to the court of appeals, which is largely a reviewing court, and renders Kibler of peculiar fitness to enforce this law, and put an end to much useless, prolonged and expensive litigation.

Territory of Franco-German War, and Many Forts of Former Nation.

France has prepared through many years for the present war with Germany, and more than a score of forts have been built along the eastern frontier reaching all the way from the Mediterranean to the English Channel. Those persons who have figured that the Germans would march with a superior army through to Paris after crossing Belgium or the Duchy of Luxembourg, have not counted on this work of France. Many of these forts could not be taken without a long siege, and they must be taken before an invading army could go farther.

Some of them have been so arranged as to leave seeming gaps through which an army might pass. But this has been set down to the cunning of the French. They have left these gaps in valleys and other territory which would make it possible to attack an enemy from the flanks and rear. Thus the gaps, it is said, by military authorities, are nothing but traps for an unwary enemy.

Of course, most of the forts have been built from the point where France and Germany touch Switzerland to the point where they meet the south corner of the Duchy of Luxembourg. The Germans declared war on Belgium because they wished to enter France through that country. They believed France had not built great forts along the Belgian line because she relied on the neutrality of the little country, which had been guaranteed by all the powers.

Two other pictures make up this perfectly balanced array of photo-plays.

The Orpheum. Owing to the fact that one of the members of the Colonial Comedy company was ill Thursday afternoon and the other members having to switch parts within an hour's notice, it made the performance run a little slow and draggy. But for the night performance when they were all on duty things went with such snap and dash that it kept the audience in an uproar. This little company certainly does hand their audiences a bundle of hearty laughs at every performance.

A successful demonstration of wireless telegraph at 100 words a minute was recently given in England by the Marconi Company between Chelmsford and Letterfrack (Galway.)

ADVENTISTS CAMP MEETING AT MT. VERNON

(Special to the Advocate.)
Mt. Vernon, O., Aug. 7.—Plans have been completed for holding of the annual camp meeting and business session of the Ohio Conference of Seventh-day Adventists here, August 13 to 22. Sixty-five churches located in different Ohio cities, including Newark, will be represented by 1,000 members, while the daily attendance will be considerably larger. The encampment will be pitched on the campus of Mt. Vernon Academy.

The majority of these people will live in tents during their stay here. Not only will practically all the ministers in the Ohio Conference be present, but several of the leading ministers in the denomination will attend. Among the visitors will be Prof. C. S. Longacre of Washington, Prof. B. G. Wilkinson, Elder R. T. Dowsett, E. G. Salisbury, and Drs. H. W. Miller and David Paulson.

Seventh-day Adventists have no creed but the Bible, and they accept this Book from Genesis to Revelation as the divinely inspired Word of God. They accept the Ten Commandments as the divine and unchangeable rule of God's government. They believe that the Bible teaches the second personal advent of Jesus Christ to this earth. While they do not claim to know the definite date of His return, they believe it will occur in this generation.

Relative Military Strength of European Powers.

These figures give an idea of the military strength of the seven nations now at war, or which may soon begin fighting. The estimates are taken for what they are worth. They show the fighting strength, according to each nation's own estimates, on paper.

There isn't any likelihood that Russia will ever have 5,000,000 men in the field, nor that Germany will have as many. Nor can France equip and manage 4,000,000. If these estimates were to be taken at face value then Great Britain might be given credit for many more than are shown.

She has the Indian population on which to draw, to say nothing of Australia, Canada and South Africa.

Italy is of course, for the time being at least to be counted out. So the Triple Alliance has gone to smash, and Germany and Austria find themselves at war with most of the remainder of Europe. The chief reliance of the now Dual Alliance must be the wonderful Germany army.

FINE PROGRAM AT CHAUTAUQUA LAST EVENING

Tonight.
7:45—Play Recital: "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm", Miss MacLaren.
Saturday Afternoon.
2:30-3:30—Concert, Norton's Band.

Saturday Evening.
7:00-8—Prelude Norton's Band.
8:00 Fire Works

(Special to The Advocate)

Summerland, Beach, O., Aug. 7.—With not one day marked by even the suggestion of intemperate weather nature seems to smile on the fourth annual chautauqua being held at Buckeye Lake. Warmed by the sun and cooled by the breezes, provided amusement and culture by the numerous programs which continue throughout the day, the whole day at Summerland Beach is one of enlivening occupation.

Success has been a constant attendant at all the numbers rendered. The lecture of Strickland Gillilan on "Sunshine and Awkwardness" and the evening of magic with Reno were of immense educational value, one being of an inspiring nature, the other demonstrating the deceptive artifices of science. Mr. Gillilan is a humorist of exceptional quality and his audience began to laugh as soon as he came on the platform.

In a performance of two hours duration Edward Reno brought out one surprise after another to his audience. His paraphernalia is perfect, he produced many new things in magic and illusion.

Miss MacLaren who gives the play recital "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm" Friday evening has almost ventriloquistic powers of changing her voice to portray a seemingly unlimited number of characters.

The American public is a great lover of band music. Norton's Band an ideal chautauqua entertaining company, will render a concert Saturday afternoon and will play a prelude to the fire works display Saturday evening.

Textile workers in the vicinity of Fall River, Mass., are maintaining an agitation for sanitary mills, and the present month promises to record changes because of continued protests by these workers, who claim "bad" conditions are a menace to health.

PEOPLE WITH THIN BLOOD

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually and stealthily that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected much more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of diseases caused by thin blood. With pure air and wholesome food these blood-making pills afford the correct treatment when the symptoms described are noticed. A former sufferer from anemia says: "I was emaciated and did not have a particle of color. I had severe headaches, had no ambition and could just drag around." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly restored appetite, flesh and health. A full statement of this case with directions regarding diet will be found in the booklet, "Building Up the Blood," sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

PHILOSOPHICAL PHELI

The weather man promised rain for today and he kept his word to the extent of sending us a nice little shower about 12:30. However, it isn't enough and it is to be hoped that he will be more generous as there is but little pasture in the country and vegetation is burning up.

Oldenburg, Netherlands, via London, Aug. 7.—11:10 a. m.—The correspondent at Berlin of Reuters, Telegraph company of London, who with other British subjects was expelled from the German capital arrived here with several other newspaper correspondents on the train which conveyed the Brit-

The correspondent says the British declaration of war on Germany was followed by an attack on the British embassy. A crowd besieged the building for hours, smashing all the windows.

The same night two Americans and two English correspondents were arrested on suspicion of being spies but were released a few hours later through the efforts of the American ambassador.

All British subjects in Germany, according to the correspondent, are being rounded up by the police and about forty of them have been kept as prisoners in the fortress of Spandau, but the American embassy in Berlin hopes to be able to bring about their release.

Among those held is Captain Horace H. Holland of the British navy, who had been lent to the Turkish government as naval instructor.

Mrs. Ella Barrick and son William are spending several days in the eastern part of the county.

GRAND OFFICERS ROYAL ARCANUM HERE TONIGHT

Bayard Taylor Council No. 221 Royal Arcanum will entertain this evening the grand officers who are to be present upon the occasion when a large class of candidates is to be received into membership of the local council. Bayard Taylor Council of Newark, was organized and instituted Dec. 23, 1873, and has always held a prominent place in the list of the fraternal bodies of this city by its large and influential membership. Several members have received recognition and held office in the grand council of the state in the past, and at the present time J. A. Kidwell is grand warden of that body. The grand council will be represented at the meeting next Friday evening by the grand regent, J. N. Stowe, of Oberlin, Past Grand Regent Lucian Seymour of Cleveland, who is also grand secretary, Past Grand Regent A. E. Rawlinson, of Mt. Vernon, and Grand Warden J. A. Kidwell, of Newark.

Following the work of conferring the degree upon the class of candidates which will be in charge of the officers of the local council, a social session will be held at which addresses will be made by the grand officers present and prominent members of the order, and refreshments will be served. The meeting will be at the M. W. of A. hall, court house park, at 8 o'clock and a large attendance of the members of the order is expected, and a royal good time may be anticipated by those attending.

In 1882 the grand council of Ohio met and held its annual session in Newark, W. C. Lyon being at the time grand regent of Ohio of the Royal Arcanum.

SYMPATHY

must be the only public recognition of Mrs. Wilson's death.

The president has also expressed the direct desire that the funeral services be as simple as possible.

Formal announcement was made at the White House today that the funeral services in the White House will be strictly private.

Among messages of sympathy were those of Cardinal Gibbons and O'Connell, and of clergymen of all denominations, and organizations of many kinds. The scene at the death bed was recalled today by one of those present. As the last hour drew near, the president sat on the bedside clasping Mrs. Wilson's hand, while Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre and Miss Wilson knelt on the floor, their eyes upon their mother's face. Dr. Grayson and a nurse came and went silently and the president looked beseechingly to the doctor for a sign of encouragement. No words were spoken. Although Mrs. Wilson was unconscious, she smiled. Her breathing grew fainter, and Dr. Grayson realized that the end was only a matter of minutes. His thoughts seemed to be communicated to the family and they moved nearer.

At 5 o'clock exactly, the soft chiming of a clock could be heard from the executive offices. As Dr. Grayson leaned over his patient he realized that the end had come and he murmured a word to the president. Mr. Wilson's head fell forward in silent grief, while the daughters sobbed.

The Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., an old friend of the Wilson family, who performed the marriage of Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Sayre, probably will officiate at the funeral.

The mother and father of Mrs. Wilson are buried in Myrtle Hill cemetery in Rome, Ga., and several telegrams were received today from girlhood friends expressing their sympathy and asking that she "be brought back home."

Mrs. Wilson's body was kept today in the room where she died, in the southwest corner of the White House, on the second floor overlooking the Potomac. The president went into the room at midnight last night, and again several times today and sat alone and no one disturbed him. Other members of the family went in from time to time but even intimate friends were kept out.

Every effort was made by his friends to divert the president's mind from his grief.

Flowers began to arrive at the White House early and continued throughout the day. They were sent by people from all walks of life.

Both houses of Congress adjourned when Mrs. Wilson's death was announced, and for a brief time the wheels of the government practically stopped, while every one paid respect to the loss of the president.

The beginning of the end came at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, when Dr. E. P. Davis of Philadelphia had been called in for consultation. He realized that the time for hope had passed. He took the president into the red room of the White House, and there in a broken voice told him the truth. Mr. Wilson's face blanched, but he wore the shock well. He was informed that the end was only a question of hours. Mr. Wilson then called his daughters, Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre, Miss Margaret Wilson, aside and told them of their mother's condition. Until then they had thought there was a chance for her recovery.

From that time on the president and his daughters remained constantly at Mrs. Wilson's bedside. The president held his wife's hand, and the three daughters were grouped near by. Until she became unconscious, Mrs. Wilson frequently nodded to one or the other and smiled cheerfully.

During the day Mrs. Wilson spoke to Dr. Grayson about the president, whose health she thought more about than she did of her own.

"Promise me," she whispered faintly, "that if I go, you will take care of my husband."

It was the same touch of devotion which she had so many times repeated her constant anxiety having been that the president might not worry about her or be disturbed in his official tasks.

The president returned to the sick room from the last conference with the doctor, his three daughters leaning on his arm. Frances Bowes Sayre and Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Tumulty stayed outside the door. Mrs. Wilson lapsed into unconsciousness, but rallied. By 1 o'clock she began to sink rapidly. She could still recognize those about her, however, and looked cheerfully toward them with the same sweet smile that will linger long in the memory of the many who knew her. It was a characteristic expression of sweetness which officials and their families as well as people in the stuns whom she had befriended had learned to love. At 2 o'clock Mrs. Wilson was still conscious but her strength had almost departed and a few minutes later she sank into the sleep of unconsciousness, from which she never awoke.

For three hours, the president and his three daughters gazed longingly into her eyes in the hope that she might speak to them again, but she could not.

The sun was casting its long shadows from the Potomac to the south grounds, coloring the fountains, gardens and lawns.

There was a hushed stillness in the upper apartments. All eyes were turned toward the southwest corner of the house.

Just at the hour of 5, death came. The president and his daughters were in tears. Secretary Tumulty walked slowly to the executive offices, his head bowed. Quietly he announced to the correspondents that the end had come.

A pall of gloom settled over the executive mansion and the offices. Presently Dr. Grayson, his face haggard and worn from day and night vigil, came to the offices. There was an oppressive silence everywhere. Secretaries, stenographers, clerks and servants seemed overcome.

Vice President Marshall and members of the cabinet and the leaders in congress were notified. Both houses promptly adjourned. The flag on the White House was dropped, gates were closed and the silence of death spread over the White House for the first time since 1892, when Mrs. Benjamin Harrison passed away.

The place of burial will be either Rome, Ga., her childhood home, or Princeton, N. J., where the family has lived for 25 years. Dr. Sylvester Beach, pastor of First Presbyterian church of Princeton, where the family has attended for many years, visited Mrs. Wilson frequently during her illness, but was not here yesterday. Members of the cabinet, justices of the supreme court members of the diplomatic corps, telephoned their condolences and sent cards. From many humble homes came flowers, as Mrs. Wilson had made many friends in the slums and city generally in her endeavors to help the friendless and poverty-stricken.

She had told the president this morning she would more cheerfully "go away" if the bill for the improvement of alleys were passed by congress. A word to leaders from Secretary Tumulty and the measure was adopted in silence by the senate and soon reported to the house. She learned that the measure would be a law in another day or so and expressed her satisfaction. She had become deeply interested in the social welfare of the community and had worked always without seeking the aid of the president. It was the strain of this, the duties of entertainment and the kidney trouble, which became chronic last autumn, which sapped her life.

Mrs. Wilson took an active interest in the career of her husband, in his contests with Congress over legislation and the numerous official duties with which he was burdened. Throughout life she was his constant helpmate and adviser. Her clear judgment on political affairs and broad views of educational questions had been a source of gratification to him for years. With her help he wrote his books and on her judgment he relied. Her devotion to him, according to those who have known the family intimately, was of remarkable depth. Her one thought was of him. Every morning and evening during her illness she cautioned Dr. Grayson not to tell the president if she had spent an uncomfortable hour. Her anxiety was that he should not be worried or disturbed. However painful her suffering it was her one aim to keep the president from being affected by her condition. But the president watched her sorrowfully for weeks and realized that she was slowly growing worse. He spent every moment he could by her side and when he was not near she was constantly calling or speaking of him.

Mrs. Wilson was a woman of simple ways, possessed of a magnetic manner. She had a faculty of putting her guests promptly at ease and was a charming hostess. She was ever democratic and modest in her tastes.

When the news of Mrs. Wilson's death reached the senate discussion of pending business was immediately ended by Senator Kern the majority leader. Interrupting debate on the shipping bill, he said:

"Mr. President, he becomes my duty to convey to the senate the melancholy intelligence of the death of Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the president of the United States. Of course, the president at this hour has the earnest sympathy of all the people of the nation, and as a mark of the sympathy entertained here and all through the republic, I move that the senate do now adjourn."

The motion was silently agreed to and the senators quietly withdrew from the chamber.

Majority Leader Underwood of the house hurried to the floor as soon as he received word from the White House. He stopped the discussion of the Moon railway pay bill.

"It is my duty," he said, "to announce to the house the death of Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the president of the United States. I think the house should show the proper respect at this time and I therefore move the adoption of the following resolution."

Resolved, that the house has heard with profound sorrow the death of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president of the United States.

"Resolved further, that a committee composed of the speaker and one additional member from each state in the Union be appointed to attend the funeral."

"Resolved, further, that as a mark of respect the house do now adjourn."

The resolution was adopted in silence.

Professor Stockton Axson of Princeton University, Mrs. Wilson's brother, was summoned Thursday morning from Oregon, where he had been on a trip, and an effort was made to get a message to him of Mrs. Wilson's death.

Mrs. Wilson has been ill since last February, when she fell in the White House and strained her spine. She later practically recovered from that injury but in the meantime kidney trouble set in and gradually she grew weaker and weaker. About two months ago her condition began to grow serious and two weeks ago Dr. Grayson became alarmed. Noted specialists were called in, and trained nurses were kept in constant attendance. She continued to grow worse, however, until serious sinking spells came on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilson was 50 years old and when she came to the White House was in robust health. Always a home lover, she nevertheless immediately assumed the arduous duties of the wife of the president. She took an active interest in public affairs and frequently received delegations calling on the president while he was too busy with other matters. Even during her last illness she frequently asked to be informed of the events of the United States and the world.

The news of the seriousness of her illness was kept from the public until Wednesday when it was admitted that her chances of recovery were slight. Her condition continuing to grow worse, Dr. Grayson yesterday morning gave out a statement which he declared her illness as "alarmed."

During Wednesday night and early Thursday morning she was kept alive by oxygen and stimulants. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Dr. Grayson gave out another statement in which he said Mrs. Wilson had two sinking spells during the morning, and that she was conscious, but growing weaker. This was the last word to come before her death.

Mrs. Wilson was Miss Ellen Louise Axson, daughter of a Presbyterian clergyman, and was born in Savannah, Ga. She was a student at the New York Art League when she met Mr. Wilson, who was then taking a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins University. The president and Mrs. Wilson were married June 21, 1885. Mrs. Wilson was a sister of Professor Axson, head of the department of English literature at Princeton University, and of the wife of Dean Edward Elliott of Princeton.

A landscape gardener of recognized ability and a painter of equally well-recognized ability, Mrs. Wilson devoted much of her time to artistic subjects. She took direct personal charge of the gardens at Prospect during Mr. Wilson's career as president of Princeton University and also of the White House gardens. Having passed much of her time outdoors, she has had the appearance of "an outdoors woman."

Her skin was smooth and girlish and her eyes until recently sparkled with health. Her hair was soft, brown and wavy, and she was of medium height. She was known as a beautiful woman.

Mrs. Wilson's indoor life had been devoted to books and artistic pursuits. Her paintings have been placed on exhibition in New York, Philadelphia and Washington and they have taken prizes in competitions. Her social obligations forced her to omit some of her accustomed artistic and literary recreation after she became mistress of the White House, but, as the first lady of the land, she was ever ready with advice and material help, including responses to demands on her time, wherever a good cause might be served.

Her domestic life is described as having been attractive and typical of that of a woman of her cultured class. She had a knowledge of domestic arts and was a good cook. It is related of her that she liked to prepare dishes, or have prepared under her personal supervision, for the president, and that she always made it a point to personally prepare for him the orange juice he used with his breakfast.

Many Send Condolences. Three telegraph operators were kept busy at the White House last night receiving telegrams of sympathy from all parts of the country. The messages came from men prominent in politics, business and official life and from many who had no personal acquaintance with either the president or Mrs. Wilson, but wanted to express their sorrow over his bereavement.

J. P. Morgan, Mayor Mitchell of New York, former President Roosevelt, all members of the supreme court and cabinet, were among the many who sent telegrams. Most of the senders expressed deep appreciation of Mrs. Wilson's personal characteristics and admiration in which the president has handled foreign and domestic problems during the time of his great trouble.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with the backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delicious, effervescent lithia-water drink.

William Sasser, superintendent of the pest house, was overcome by formaldehyde fumes while fumigating a room of the pest house Thursday evening where a smallpox patient had been confined. The fumes rendered Mr. Sasser unconscious, and it was some time before he could be revived. Dr. H. P. Martin was summoned and Friday morning Mr. Sasser was nearly recovered.

Is Heaven Our Home, Or Home Our Heaven?

Pastor J. F. Emerson, of Minneapolis, now of New York, who is to lecture here next Sunday on "Was Man Created for Heaven?" holds that the venerable editor of the Outlook expressed the sentiments of thousands of Christian workers when he wrote "I am setting myself with a clearer and clearer vision as the years go by, to do what little I can to make this life of universal happiness I care less about preparing men for heaven hereafter, and more for bringing heaven to earth; less about singing, 'Heaven is my Home,' and more about turning home into heaven."

"Yes," said Mr. Emerson, "this is true, very true. People, no matter how good they are, do not want to go to heaven; they would much rather stay here. Much perplexity in the minds of many can be removed readily by applying a good dose of common sense and Bible reason. Why should God force man away from a home which he loves, away from loved ones, away from circumstances and conditions, although imperfect, yet much loved by him, to a strange home, strange conditions, strange circumstances, which but few desire? What is the destiny of man?"

The high school Auditorium has been engaged for the lecture. Mr. Emerson will speak there next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. His topic is "Was Man Created for Heaven?" This lecture has been heard in many cities and has aroused much interest. The lecture is under the auspices of the I. B. S. A., is free and no collection will be taken. The public has been cordially invited.
